Recognizing the need in nature conservation, passing the traditional knowledge of co-existing in harmony with nature, raising public awareness and acceptance of sustainable development concept that would ultimately generate attitude and behavior changes,

We, the participants of the National Workshop appeal to Mongolian public, governmental and non-governmental organizations to bring together their effort for following changes:

- Raise awareness and public acceptance of education for sustainable development concept and support national capacity strengthening process;
- Finalize the content and didactics of teaching sustainable development curricula, inclusive of developing teaching and learning aid materials and creating enabling environment for effective learning process;
- Improve synergy and integration of education for sustainable development concept with existing and on-going projects and programs;
- Integrate the concept of education for sustainable development into both, the formal and non-formal education curricula throughout all levels of secondary schooling system.
- Further promotion of “Green School” initiatives for public attitude and behavior changes towards increased care for nature.

National Workshop Participants
Ulaanbaatar, 6 April 2007