Exciting Career Opportunities

- Making a difference
- Dynamic Working Environment & Value Adding Responsibilities

Our client, World Wide Fund for Nature - Pacific (WWF Pacific) has been working in the region for more than twenty years leading marine, coastal and terrestrial conservation efforts in Fiji, the Solomon Islands and Papua New Guinea. With the regional hub based in Suva, Fiji, WWF Pacific is poised to grow to become a more impactful Program.

If you are looking for new challenges to grow as well as make a difference, our client has exciting opportunities to join their Regional Leadership Team.

1. Regional Head of Finance, Risk and Compliance

Reporting to the Regional Operations Director, you will lead organizational strategic and operational planning and policy development in the finance, risk and compliance domains. You will also direct the development and implementation of policies and procedures on all accounting, auditing, financial and budgeting activities, and internal controls of WWF Pacific, assuring adherence to guidelines developed by WWF Pacific, WWF International and its donors.

To be successful in this role you must have a bachelor's Degree in Finance, Accounting and/or Business Management or a professional accountancy qualification. You should also have at least five (5) to seven (7) years in Finance and Accounting with a strong emphasis in the development, management, and monitoring of financial, risk and compliance systems. You should also have experience in financial management, risk management and compliance and be a member of a professional accounting institute.

2. Regional Development and Donor Relations Manager

Reporting to the Director Pacific, you will lead fundraising and donor relations across the Fiji, Solomon Islands and Papua New Guinea offices. You will also develop and maintain effective Public Sector, Corporate and other Donor partnerships while ensuring the effective coordination, monitoring and implementation of fundraising proposals.

To be successful in this role you must have a Master's Degree in Business Management, Conservation, Development studies, Political Science or in relevant fields. You should also have at least five (5) to seven (7) years of practical experience as a partnership or fundraising coordinator for a programme or project, two (2) years of which should ideally be in the Pacific Region. Successful fundraising experience with large-scale, multi country proposals ($2-3 Million USD at least). You should also possess excellent organisational and problem-solving skills, and have excellent interpersonal, communication and presentation skills.

3. Regional Communications Manager

Reporting to the Director Pacific, the RCM will be responsible for developing, implementing, and driving communications strategies for WWF Pacific. You will also be responsible for leading the development and execution of communications strategies and work plans of the corporate/major donor funded projects/programmes.

To be successful in this role you must have a bachelor's Degree in Communications, Marketing, PR or in relevant fields. You should also have five (5) to seven (7) years' similar communications, PR or marketing role in international organizations and five (5) years' work experience in working with public, CSOs and private sector stakeholders on conservation and/or sustainability, including significant project management experience. You should also possess excellent organisational and problem-solving skills, and have excellent interpersonal, communication and presentation skills.

Don’t miss out on these exciting job opportunities! Applications addressing the above requirements and including a cover letter, a detailed curriculum vitae, three referees with email and telephone contacts should be forwarded to “Position Title” via email fj-fmrecruitment@kpmg.com.au by Wednesday 30 March 2022. A copy of the job description outlining detailed roles and responsibilities can be downloaded from WWF Pacific website: www.wwfpacific.org or email us on the address provided.